Kangaroos are not farmed, they are shot in the wild at night... this is the world's largest land-based wildlife slaughter

NO INDEPENDENT OBSERVERS = ANIMAL WELFARE CRISIS

© Ray Drew

Wounded kangaroos die slowly in agony.

Joeys are bashed, shot or left to starve.

Kangaroos are Sacred Totem and Creator Spirits. For many Indigenous people their slaughter is a grossly offensive continuation of colonialism.

Commercial shooting is rapidly stripping kangaroos from the Australian landscape.

Independent scientists warn the killing is unsustainable.

Residents are horrified and traumatised by kangaroo slaughter near their homes and businesses.

Wildlife trade is dangerous and risks emergence of new zoonotic diseases.

BEWARE! Kangaroos carry a naturally high parasite load and their meat can be contaminated with Salmonella, high levels of E. coli, Toxoplasmosis, Listeria and Coxiella
